That's why the new Rinnai Impression Outdoor Fire is a perfect fit for this lifestyle. Designed and made in New Zealand for our climate, this high-quality outdoor fire will ensure evenings outdoors are a pleasure.

Easy installation for any setting

The Impression range of one-sided, two-sided or the freestanding table-top units, provide options for every outdoor setting. As the units are modular they can be adapted to fit into any permanent structure, so you will have these quality outdoor fires installed and functioning in no time and their durable construction ensures they will last through many years of entertaining.

A combination of style and strength

Constructed with stainless steel, aluminium extrusion, natural granite and quartz, the Rinnai Impression Outdoor Fire is both strong and attractive. For added protection, a high-temperature powder-coated finish has also been added in areas where it is needed most.

But perhaps most inspiring of all, is that each of the units can be clad to match your outdoor setting. It's easy to personalise your unit by cladding it in materials such as stone, plaster or brick, and make a style statement.

Simple operation

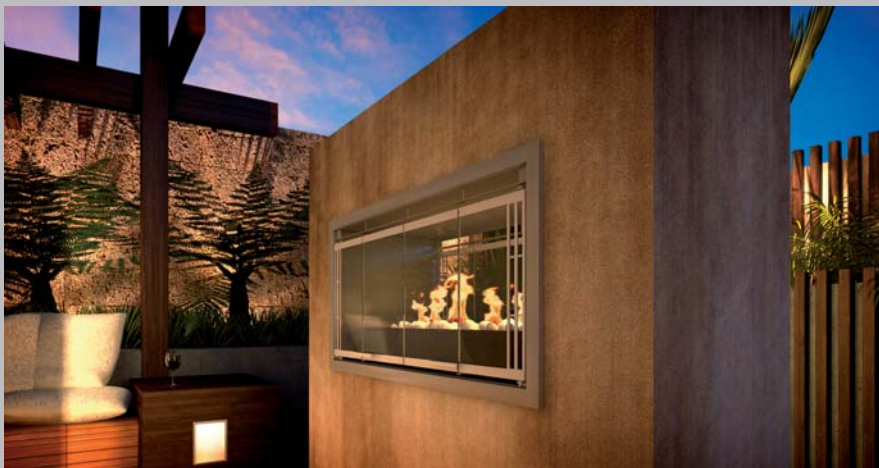

Similar to regular BBQ's, Rinnai Impression Outdoor Fire connects to a 9 Kg LPG bottle with a quick disconnect gas connection. It has three flame settings, accessed by the control knob on the front of the fire and Piezo ignition so it's reliable and easy to use.

As with all Rinnai appliances, the Outdoor Fire meets all the safety standards required by New Zealand gas regulations. It also has a burner that lights with a low gas rate* (it lights to pilot) and a flame failure device. This ensures that if the fire is on and there is no flame, the gas will automatically shut off.

If you're seeking a simple, clean design, Rinnai's double sided cabinet is a good choice. Flames are viewed from both sides, and creates a feeling of space being able to see through to the other side.

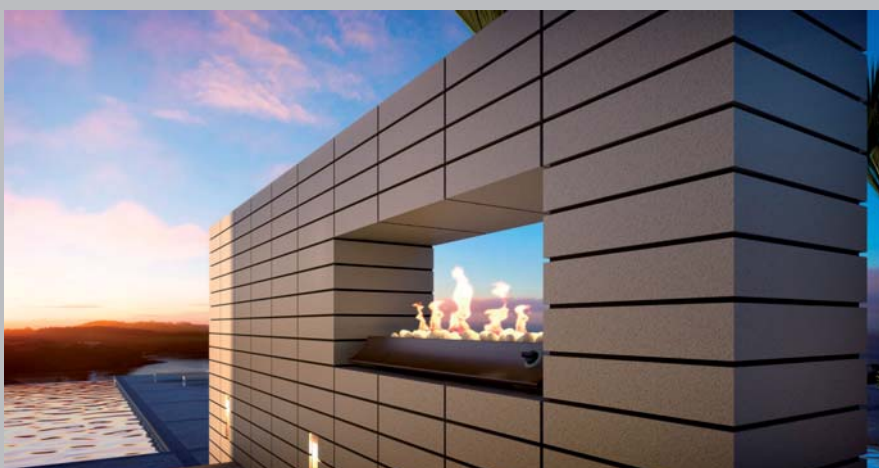

Single sided cabinet

The unit offers the flexibility to be built into the outside of your home, or in a stand-alone location at the end of your deck. Whatever you choose, it will add style to your outdoor setting.

Freestander

When evening comes, the freestanding table-top unit is an impressive sight. Flames of fire cover the unit top, providing a focal point where your guests are sure to gather. The table-top can be built into a stand or secured into a permanent fixture in your outdoor area.

Masonry installation

With a dramatic look the freestander unit can be encased in a masonry installation, so you can view the fire from either one or both sides.
